

CAREER GUIDE · AI AT WORK

Maximise AI in your remote work

Boost your productivity and efficiency.

Ten practical ways to make AI work for you.

Ever wonder how to truly make AI work for you while working remotely? We have broken it down into ten practical ways to lift your daily productivity, streamline your tasks and future-proof your career, all in one guide.

TEN WAYS TO USE AI AT WORK

From automating tasks to future-proofing your career.

- 1 Automate routine tasks
Use AI for scheduling, email triage, data entry and expense reporting to free up your time.
- 2 Enhance communication
Use AI for real-time translation, meeting summaries and email drafting.
- 3 Streamline project management
Use AI for task allocation, predicting resource needs and generating status reports.
- 4 Optimise workflows
Analyse your work patterns and use AI to spot bottlenecks and suggest improvements.
- 5 Boost collaboration
Use AI brainstorming partners, ideation prompts and collaborative document co-authoring.

6

 Personalise learning and up-skilling

Use AI-driven platforms for tailored training paths and skills recommendations.

7

 Strengthen cybersecurity

Use AI for threat detection, anomaly monitoring and securing remote devices.

8

 Improve focus and wellbeing

Review your productivity data for better time blocking, breaks and preventing burnout.

9

 Make data-driven decisions

Use AI to gather, clean and analyse large datasets for more informed decisions.

10

 Future-proof your career

Stay ahead by building AI into your daily work and following where the tools are heading.

PRO TIP

Start with one task from this list, not all ten. Pick the thing that eats the most of your day and let AI take the first pass at it this week.
